CONSENT FOR SERVICES AND HIPAA NOTIFICATION

In order to serve you, we must have you (or a legal guardian if under age 18) give Counseling and Testing Services consent to serve you. This service may include an assessment, a referral, education, and/or counseling/therapy. Please read our HIPAA statement which further explains our Privacy Policy and your rights. Our services are as private and confidential as the law allows. Your records are typically released only with your signed permission to do so. There are some limits to confidentiality because the law or professional standards (ethics) require the counselor to take action which may include disclosing some information. Although rare, examples of situations where Texas state law may require counselors to disclose information. Some situations where this could occur include suspecting abuse and/or neglect of a child, the imminent threat of harm to oneself or others, or a legal subpoena for records. Other situations not listed here may require disclosure. It is standard practice for professionals within the center to supervise or consult with one another in order to provide the best service possible. We always strive to keep clients informed about their privacy and protect it in every way that we can.

Please read each section below and its related question. Indicate whether or not you agree to the conditions of service by checking the appropriate choice. You must mark an answer for each section below. We are glad to answer any questions you may have regarding our services and/or your privacy.
